Specifications

Composition

The high quality fabric consists of 70% polyester and 30% wool, which has very high lightfastness and resistance to aging.

Typical applications

Seat covers, headrest covers, wall coverings, headliners, undersides of luggage racks, seat backs.

Designs and colors

The Lantal product line covers a rich diversity of predefined colors and designs for distinctively unique interiors, available from the warehouse.

On request, customer-specific designs and colors can be developed as well.

Design options

The headrest covers can for example be embroidered with your company logo or individualised with coloured corded edging or decorative stitching to strengthen your brand.

Moisture absorption

Very good seating comfort due to high moisture absorption and the temperature-balancing effect of virgin wool. Lantal's velvets were developed explicitly for buses.

Abrasion resistance

Lantal velvets fulfill all European and North American wear standards.

Pile resistance

Thanks to a highly elastic support yarn, the pile recovers quickly after compression. The as-new look of the vehicle interior is preserved for a very long time.

Light fastness

Thanks to an optimized dyeing process, Lantal's velvets achieve excellent scores and fulfill testing pursuant to ISO 105-B02.

Safety and standards

Lantal velvets are flame-resistant and comply with the standards and specifications of UN-ECE-R118.02 / FMVSS 302.

Cleaning

Washable with water and sponge or with a wet extraction unit at temperatures of up to 40°C. The fibers dry very quickly after wet cleaning.

Service life

Lantal products are exceptionally durable and preserve the as-new look for a very long time.

Ready-made products

Lantal supplies ready-made seat covers on request. The seat covers are supplied on the basis of the measurements provided and are ready for use.

Other ready-made products supplied by Lantal include headrest covers, curtains and carpets.
